NATIVE SHRUBS AND PLANTS

We can furnish any of the native trees, shrubs, plants or ferns that grow in this vicinity.

Large tracts of wood and pasture land are at our disposal, from which we can obtain any of these native plants.

R O S E S

As long as they exist Roses will retain their dominant grip upon the affections and appreciations of flower lovers.

Dormant roses should be well watered and the tops protected from the sun until the buds show growth, for the failure of most roses to live is due to lack of moisture.

We can supply field-grown dormant plants at 65c each, $5.50 per 10; extra heavies at 85c each, $7.00 per 10.

After May 25th, we can supply most of these varieties in field-grown, budded plants, well established in pots, for 85c each, $7.00 per 10.

HARDY PERENNIALS AND ROCK PLANTS

Perennials comprise most of the best flowers as well as the foundation of any well planned garden. They exist in infinite varieties, sizes, colors and seasonable bloom.

The material we grow is strong field grown stock, with the exception of some varieties which transplant better grown in pots.

We offer perennials in quantities of three, instead of singly, as we believe generally speaking it isn't practical to get a satisfactory garden effect by using one plant of a kind. Please remember that five plants or more of one variety will be priced at the ten rate and that twenty-five or more of one kind will be entitled to the hundred rate when such rate is given.

Plants marked with (r) are particularly adapted to the Rock Garden.

Questions

What is peat moss and what are its principal uses?

Peat is a vegetable matter which because of peculiar natural conditions, has been preserved in a partially decomposed state for many years. Peat moss is a particular kind of peat. It might have been more correctly called "moss peat" rather than peat moss; because it is a type of peat which was formed from various mosses. It is principally used as an absorbing and deodorizing material—as a sanitary bedding for horses, cattle, poultry and other livestock—and for improving the physical condition of mineral soils.

How can I know it is good to use peat moss for all its advertised uses?

Read the U. S. Gov't's Dept. of Agri. bulletins. Especially bulletins Nos. 167 and 290. They strongly and soundly endorse its use for many purposes.

Why is German and Holland peat moss outstanding? What makes it so good?

The quality value of peat moss depends largely upon the locality of the peat bogs, and upon the degree of skill and thoroughness employed in selection and preparation. Leading reference books on the subject of the geology of the World's Peat Lands describe the moss peat bogs of Germany and Holland as the most true to type in all of Europe—of an unusual type of development and character. It is the finest peat the earth affords, say the scientists—actually pure sphagnum moss peat of a uniformly high quality, noticeably free from woody material remains of shrubs and trees; foreign mineral matter, and other impurities. Naturally, the owners of these peat lands are proud of their product and take extra care in preparing it for use. Strict standards of quality are controlled by expert inspectors with proper experience in selecting peat and its correct processing. Years and years of experience safeguard the quality in every bale.

and ANSWERS

How can I unerringly distinguish a quality peat moss from a peat moss of a doubtful or poorer quality?

It's sometimes difficult unless you are experienced. Peat moss of good quality and grade must have a high water-absorbing capacity, a moderately high content of cellulose, and a relatively low amount of woody material and ash. Avoid using peats mixed with large amount of stringy fibrous tufts, and other impurities. Likewise, peat dried to a too low moisture content loses its water absorbing capacity to a very marked degree, rendering the product less fit for use. The pages of this leaflet will help you conceive a Standard Rating scale, which with practice will enable you to choose your peat moss just as skillfully as you have long since learned to select your food. Apply these tests and if still doubtful, write to our laboratory department.

Isn't the claim of "high quality" for peat moss over-emphasized and superficial—merely stressed to justify a little more profit?

The U. S. Dept. of Agri. bul. No. 167 says: "Lately large quantities of lower grade and moist moss peat are being sold on our market. Unless the material is graded with a suitable range of differentiation of quality, the better product cannot command a price in keeping with its quality." This is recognition that people are being fooled into using substitutes for quality peat moss. Profit from this authoritative information and avoid dissatisfaction.

What assurance have I that I am getting the best peat moss?

Buy your peat moss from a dependable dealer. See that the bale is marked: "Made in Germany" or "A product of Holland." The experience of users over a long period of time has shown that this imported peat moss is long lived and dependable—and, it's judged the best and most effective peat moss by an impartial inspection service bureau.

DO YOU KNOW

THAT—good peat moss can measure up to a standard of “uniformly high quality”?

THAT—German and Holland peat moss bales were the first nationally distributed bales of peat moss to bear a seal-mark of Inspection Service, guaranteeing quality whenever and wherever you buy?

THAT—a light reddish and yellowish-brown color to peat indicates a high quality and value? A grayish tint indicates as a rule a prevalence of mineral matter (high in ash) and possibly a low value?

THAT—brown colored peat moss derived from species of Hypnum mosses are not advantageous for some of the purposes that Sphagnum peat moss is used?”

THAT—some type peats are a practical disadvantage to soil, causing excessive drainage and physical deterioration because of open structural condition?

THAT—the Peat Import Corporation at 155 John Street, New York City, is the educational bureau for the Peat Moss Importers and dealers and will give, without obligation, available information on any subject relating to the product or its uses?
